Political Science 3200: Introduction to Law and Politics
Tuesday/Thursday, 9-12, BUC 206, First Session

Course Objectives
This course will examine law through the lenses of political and moral theory. We will endeavor to define the moral and political values embodied in the Anglo-American legal tradition by discussing political and legal philosophy, judicial opinions, and the consequences of the law on American politics. In particular, the course will revolve around two questions: What is law? And, how does the law balance ideals of responsibility and freedom? While we will often use legal cases and other materials in our work, our primary purpose is to examine the principles underlying Anglo-American law, the political decisions which are embodied in the law, and the role of judges and judicial institutions in shaping the law. This course will not teach you any practical law, nor is it meant to prepare you for law school.

Course Requirements and Methods of Evaluation
There will be two midterm papers and a final paper, on which you will be expected to demonstrate your ability to apply concepts and theories found in the readings, lectures and class discussion. You will have a week to complete each 4-5 page paper, in which you will write on one of two provided essay questions. You will also have a chance to rewrite one of your first two papers (those due May 31 and June 14) and use the grade on the revision in place of the original grade. You must submit the revised version by June 28 to do so.

Your grade will be computed as follows:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Classroom Participation</th>
<th>25%</th>
<th>Date Assigned/Date Due</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Paper 1</td>
<td>25%</td>
<td>Assigned May 24, Due May 31</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Paper 2</td>
<td>25%</td>
<td>Assigned June 7, Due June 14</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Final Paper</td>
<td>25%</td>
<td>Assigned June 19, Due June 26</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Required Materials
There are two required books that may be purchased at the University Bookstore: David M. Adams, Philosophical Problems in the Law, 4th Ed. (Wadsworth, 2004), henceforth PPL, and Lief Carter, Austin Sarat, Mark Silverstein, and William Weaver, New Perspectives on American Law (Carolina Academic Press, 1997), hereafter NPAL.

Non-negotiable Policy on Late Papers and Unsubmitted Work: Papers will be accepted until 5 pm on the date due; I have mailboxes in both the Political Science department office (OSH 252) and the Masters in Public Administration office (OSH 214). I will lower a paper grade one full grade if you submit a paper due on a date for which you have an unexcused absence. Late papers will lose one full grade if submitted within a week of due date; after a week, papers will not be accepted. Failure to submit any assignment during the semester will result in failure of the entire course.
Academic Misconduct: All quotes must be cited as such and include a clear reference to the work from which they were drawn; they will otherwise be treated as plagiarism. All use of materials other than course materials must be accompanied by full citations. All work in this course is assigned as individual work; working as groups or teams is strongly discouraged (and may be treated as cheating), as is all but the most casual assistance from others; this includes spouses and other family members. If you intend to submit a paper which significantly draws upon work for another class, you must first receive explicit permission to do so from both myself and the other instructor. Any form of academic dishonesty will result in a failing grade for the course and other disciplinary action, up to expulsion from the University. Please note that you should keep a copy of your work. When working on a computer, always make a back-up; computer malfunction is not an excuse.

Please note: All work must be submitted through turnitin.com and in hard copy; instructions for submitting work through turnitin.com will be attached to the first assignment.

Americans with Disabilities Act Notice: Persons with disabilities requiring special accommodations to meet the expectations of this course should provide reasonable prior notice to the instructor and to the Center for Disability Services, 162 Olpin Union Building, 581-5020 (V/TDD) to make arrangements. Written material in this course can be made available in alternative format with prior notification.

Accommodation of Sincerely Held Beliefs: I will work with students who require schedule changes due to religious or other significant obligations. I will not consider any requests based on course content. Because modern American politics includes many debates over sexuality, obscenity, religious practice and belief, and political ideology, any class that did not address such issues would be substantially limited. Students are required to attend all classes and to read all assignments. All assignments and lectures are related to our subject matter, and I do not include gratuitously salacious material. If you have any objection to the frank and open discussion of any of the topics above, including the use of adult language appropriate to subject matter, please drop the class.

Disclaimer: The following schedule is approximate and subject to additions, deletions and substitutions. Please remember that you are responsible for the entire text assigned; the named cases are simply those to which additional attention will be paid in class.
