The Challenge of Hegemony
Grand Strategy, Trade, and Domestic Politics
Steven E. Lobell

Examines the influence of the international environment on the domestic politics of great powers and the resulting effect on foreign policy

“...a pleasure to read. It is both theoretically sophisticated and empirically rich. Theoretically, it makes an innovative argument that draws constructively from the subfields of comparative politics and international political economy to explain the national security behavior of leading states...[A] significant work that makes an innovative and important contribution to the international relations literature on hegemonic stability and power transition theory. It is, therefore, essential reading for both scholars and graduate students. In addition, Lobell's discussion of the grand strategic policy dilemmas facing the United States in the contemporary era will be of great interest to the U.S. policy community.”

—International Studies Review

“[A] conceptually rigorous and tightly reasoned study...Lobell reminds us that power is never value neutral but organizes commercial systems in liberal or imperial terms. Even more importantly, power organizes political societies in liberal (democratic) or imperial (authoritarian) terms.”

—Perspectives on Politics

“...tightly written, nicely argued and thoroughly researched to a fault. [Lobell] seems to delight in historical detail. The complexity of his approach is refreshing.”

—International Affairs

“The Challenge of Hegemony offers a compelling reinterpretation of key historical cases and provides wise guidance as to how the United States should wield its power today.”

—Charles A. Kupchan, Council on Foreign Relations

“Lobell demonstrates clearly how the international environment confronting great powers interacts with their domestic political coalitions to produce different grand strategies. Through a masterful sweep of history, Lobell shows us the alternative trajectories before the United States today.”

—David A. Lake, University of California, San Diego

Steven E. Lobell is Associate Professor of Political Science at the University of Utah.

The University of Michigan Press
6 x 9, 256 pages, 2 tables

AVAILABLE NOW
at a special 20% discount
*DISCOUNT CODE: UMP030809

ORDER BY
phone 800.621.2736
web www.press.umich.edu

BILLING/SHIPPING INFORMATION
Name ____________________________________________
Address __________________________________________
_________________________________________________
_________________________________________________
Phone _____________________________________________
Email ______________________________________________

POSTAGE AND HANDLING RATES
U.S.: UPS Ground ($4.50/1st book, $1.00 each additional book)
Outside the U.S.: ($5.50/1st book, $1.00 each additional book)

ORDERING INFORMATION
Quantity _____________________________ Cost
 paper (0-472-03080-9) @ 18.36 ea. = $ ____________
IL residents add 8.75% sales tax/Canadian residents add 7% GST Shipping _____________________________
TOTAL _____________________________

PAYMENT METHOD
☐ check ☑ MasterCard ☐ Visa
Card # _______________________________________
Exp. Date _________________________________
Signature ____________________________________

*To receive the discount from our site, enter the code in the ‘special instructions’ field on the shopping cart page. The discount will not be reflected on this page but will appear on your credit card statement.